

Mideast Crisis Tops Year's Ten Best Stories

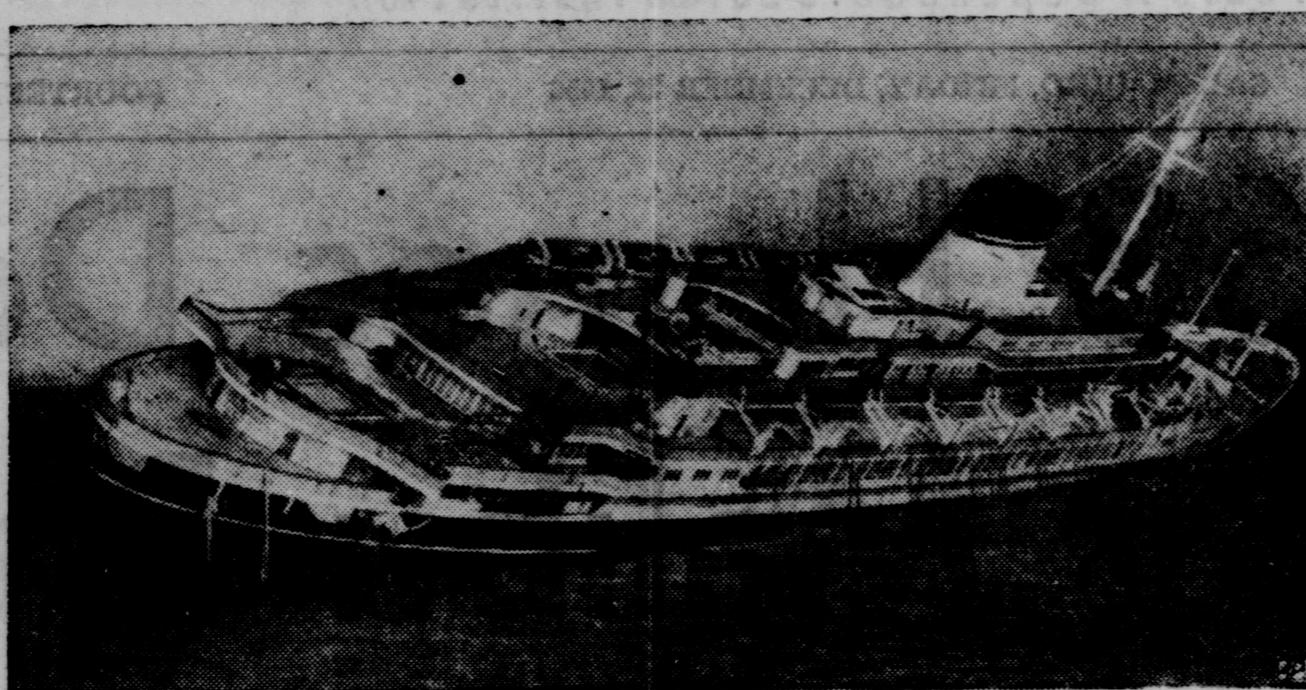

SUEZ INVASION—French troops churn towards Egypt during dramatic Anglo-French landings at Port Said.

By PAUL R. MICKELSON
Associated Press
General News Editor
Oil and water mixed to produce the biggest news story of 1956. More important than President Eisenhower's re-election, even more significant than the courageous but pathetic revolt against Russian rule in Hungary, was Gamal Nasser's seizure of the Suez waterway and the consequences that brought the jittery world perilously close again to the brink of war.

Newspaper, radio and TV news editors, voting in the annual Associated Press poll to determine the 10 biggest stories of a big news year, unhesitatingly named the Middle East crisis number one. As the year drew to an end, the ancient land of the Pharaohs was the world's most explosive trouble center. England and France were politically and economically shaken. The estrangement of the world's two mightiest powers, the United States and Russia, was wider and more serious.

Four years after he engineered the bloodless coup that toppled the high-living King Farouk from his ancient throne, the 38-year-old Nasser set off the volatile world crisis by seizing the Suez canal, the most vital single lifeline of the British Empire. Unable to regain control of the canal by diplomatic and economic pressure, Britain and France suddenly decided to invade Egypt.

Swift Reaction
The reaction was swift and terrible, particularly for the British. World opinion, headed up by the United States in the United Nations, was against the invasion which had been buttressed by one by Israel. Russia threatened to Louisiana as he reduced the Democratic "solid south" to six states. Four years earlier, Eisenhower's electoral vote margin was 442 to 89, Stevenson winning nine states — seven of them in the South.

Only the pre-convention political activities gave the campaign zest. The doubt as to Eisenhower's availability due to his illnesses and the "dump Nixon" campaign that Harold Stassen never got off the ground gave the Republican campaign its only real interesting moments. Likewise, Stevenson's winning campaign to wrest the Democratic nomination for the second time and Harry Truman's dramatic but ill-fated fight for Gov. Averell Harriman of New York were the true high spots of interest.

The second straight losing Democratic campaign was far from a total loss because of its victory in holding firm control of the House and Senate despite Ike's astonishing popularity.

Other top stories of 1956:

3. Hungary's revolt against Russian rule. The revolt began suddenly on Oct. 23 and freedom quickened and bloomed under Russian promises until Nov. 4 when the hammer and sickle fell. Betrayed and relentlessly crushed by their Russian masters, the Hungarian uprising for freedom flickered and fell as the world, including some of Russia's staunchest supporters, shuddered at the open brutality of the Kremlin's army.

Hungarians by the thousands fled for freedom to free Europe and the United States. The big winner was the western world which had all the indisputable evidence it needed of Russian imperial colonialism. The inevitable loser was Russia, its tactics exposed for the world, especially its uneasy satellites, to see.

4. Racial integration. More Negroes than ever entered schools previously all-white but the band against them was firm and untested in most regions of the Deep South. Disorders occurred at several places, including Clinton, Tenn.; Clay, Ky., and Mansfield, Tex., as the federal courts continued making decisions favoring integration on every front from public schools to public buses.

5. Sinking of the Andrea Doria after collision with the Stockholm. This was one of the great epics of the sea. Modern communications and rescue methods held the death toll from the crash off Nantucket to about 50 dead and missing.

6. Airline collisions over the Grand Canyon. Two huge airliners became hurtling coffins for all 128 persons aboard in June by colliding in flight and crashing on adjacent peaks of Arizona's Grand Canyon. It was the worst commercial air disaster in history.

7. De-Stalinization. Russia's leaders startled the world by exposing Joseph Stalin as a foe of free communism and the "new look" brought record numbers of American visitors and businesspeople to Russia. But the look began to harden into another Stalin mask with the Hungarian brutalities.

8. President Eisenhower's illness operation. Stricken for the second time in less than a year, he recovered rapidly and went on to win re-election with apparent radiant health.

9. Polish riots. Not so severe or widespread as those in Hungary but apparently more successful.

10. The Parris Island "death march" and the court martial of Marine Sgt. Matthew McKeon.

CENTENNIAL PARK—Police are hunting for a new type of purse snatcher, who they said used perfect timing to commit his thievery.

Miss Mildred Frohman, 45, a clerk, told Townhall police she was in the middle of a Northwest Street street Thursday night when she stopped for a motorist to pass.

The driver slowed the car as he approached her, suddenly stuck out his hand, snatched her purse and increased his speed. Miss Frohman said the purse contained $3.50 in cash, some checks and three $25 government bonds.

County Loses Money On Drunken Drivers

PITTSBURGH—Allegheny County commissioners have a financial hangover—they say they're losing money on drunken drivers. Each time a motorist here is arrested for possible drunken driving he's examined by a physician who charges $10—whatever his verdict. The commissioners discovered they're paying out more to doctors than they're taking in on fines.

The smaller pavilions, numbers 3 and 4, accommodate 50 persons and may be reserved for the same periods of time as the larger ones for $2 per period or $4 all day. On Sundays and holidays the rates are $2.50 and $4.

Reservations will not be accepted before then. Only Salem tax district residents may reserve pavilions beginning Wednesday; out-of-town residents may reserve the pavilions after March 31, 1957.

Strike Talks Get Nowhere

11-Hour Session Fails To End Phone Dispute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The southern Ohio telephone strike appears destined to last well into 1957.

An 11-hour negotiating session between officials of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. and the Communications Workers of America (CWA) ended here early today with a report of no progress.

In fact, a federal mediator said the negotiations were no nearer a settlement than they were nearly six months ago when the strike, which affects 24 Ohio counties, began.

"The issues that were in dispute when the strike started are still in dispute," said federal mediator Nicholas Fillo.

These issues include classification of supervisory personnel, a no strike clause and more than a dozen others. But, primarily, the strike is a union shop battle.

The company insists it will sign no contract that includes union shop provisions. And the union is just as determined it will not give up the clause, which was included in old contracts.

General Telephone Co., which became Ohio Consolidated's parent organization last summer, has no union shop clauses in any of its contracts with workers.

Fillo said this most recent bargaining session was a matter of each side trying to find some compromising spirit in the other. Both were unsuccessful.

The strike began last July 15 when some 600 CWA workers walked off their jobs after negotiations, already several weeks old, reached a stalemate. Since then, neither side has yielded on any major issue. Wages have never been a roadblock.

Marked by cable cuttings, rock throwing incidents and court suits and counter-suits, the strike has vitally affected the city of Portsmouth, which was without telephone service more than two months. The union denied responsibility for the violence.

The company restored service, however, just before the Christmas holidays after the city organized a program of law enforcement with emphasis on controlling unruly crowds. The company had claimed law enforcement in Portsmouth and Scioto County had collapsed.

There have been no major incidents in Portsmouth since service was restored.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The hunt for an escaped bank robber, described as being dangerous, centered on the downtown area early today.

Police and FBI agents believe the man they are looking for is Walter Skiba, 36, Cleveland. He was reportedly seen in several downtown bars Thursday night.

Officers also are checking a report that he stepped from a taxi at a downtown intersection, leaving his overcoat inside.

Skiba and Edwin A. Townsend, 35, Newport, Ky., escaped Dec. 20 from a South Bend, Ind., jail by sawing the bars on their cell.

Townsend was arrested Thursday morning after a bullet-punctured chase in nearby Fernald. A companion, believed to be Skiba, escaped into a wooded area.

BOY KILLED ACCIDENTALLY

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Anthony Berold, 11, of Loyal Oak, was killed Thursday night by an accidental shot from a friend's gun, Coroner's Investigator James Crano said. He said James Hutchinson of nearby Norton, was trying to empty his shotgun after a hunting trip, when it jammed and fired when he tried to release it. The accident occurred in the basement of the Berold home.

CONSTIPATED?

new laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon. A "thrifty" colon is one that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

TO REGAIN NORMAL REGULARITY two things are necessary. First, the dry, shrunken contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it and so, excite its muscles to action; to a normal urge to purge.

ONLY A BULK LAXATIVE can 1) re-moisten this dry, shrunken waste and 2) supply vital bulk to re-create a normal urge to purge. And, of all bulk laxatives, COLONAIID, the

11 All-America Cities Picked In Yearly Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — Ten cities in the United States and one in Alaska were named today as the year's All-American cities in the annual contest conducted by the National Municipal League and Look Magazine.

Anchorage, Alaska, one of the winners, is the first city outside the continental United States to be named for the honor since the awards were established eight years ago.

Anchorage, Altus, Okla., and Torrance, Calif., were named for successfully tackling skyrocketing population growth that threatened to swamp city facilities.

Brattleboro, Vt., was selected for overwhelming citizen support that went into creating the Brattleboro living memorial park.

St. Louis, Mo., and Zanesville, Ohio, were honored because the "citizens banded together to change a do-nothing attitude and reverse the tide of seediness and decay creeping over their towns."

Springfield, Mo., was selected because the people "were jolted awake in 1952 by a discovery of bribery in city government, and put up a fight to clean house, vote in council-manager government and install man needed improvements."

Elgin, Ill., was named because citizens "took action against inefficiency and, in a bitterly fought campaign also won a council-manager plan for their city."

Tacoma, Wash., another winner, citizens "faced up in 1952 to a spectacular problem of vice. With the army threatening to put the entire city 'out of bounds' . . . embattled citizens voted in an effective government, and later beat an underworld syndicate which tried to kill it."

Laurinburg, N. C., was honored for a citywide campaign that led to the city being chosen as a site for a new consolidated presbyterian college.

Egypt's Canal

It is absurd when someone trying to do a favor must plead for the right to do it. Egypt's official mind now has become topsy-turvy on the United Nations project to clear the Suez Canal so it can be back in use by next spring. This would be a multi-million-dollar favor for President Nasser's regime. Nothing would be more dangerous than for him to be stuck with the consequences of the sabotage committed on his orders.

It is doubtful if Egypt ever could reopen the canal by itself. It is doubtful if the waterway could be restored to use if the restoration depended on Egyptian resources. The canal's earning power, itself, is Egypt's main resource.

The canal is not only useless—but a heavy liability every day it is blocked—a liability not only to its users but also its owners. Yet the owners are insisting on everything to suit themselves as a condition to letting work begin on the canal-clearing project. The latest demand is that Israel's troops must be cleared out of the Sinai Peninsula before work can begin, a project that might take weeks and could precipitate a deadlock.

What would happen if the United States, which will take the financial rap for the U.N. canal-clearing project, were to say in effect to Egypt: "We are willing to help you straighten out the mess over Suez on one condition: Not one more quibble!"

Technical Hornswoggle

It takes the votes of six judges of the Ohio Supreme Court to throw out a law on the grounds it is contrary to the state constitution, unless the Supreme Court is upholding a previous ruling by a lower court.

This technicality is about to hornswoggle Ohioans out of $64,500 which now will be spent improperly to pay for engineering studies on an underground parking garage for the benefit of the city of Columbus. Millions could follow the $64,500.

The only possible justification for sweating this money out of state funds (highway appropriation) is the fact the garage would be built under the statehouse yard in downtown Columbus. Nevertheless, it would be for the benefit of Columbus residents and visitors to Columbus looking for a handy place to park. It would be a local improvement on state property.

Four of the seven judges of the Ohio Supreme Court looked at it that way. But because it takes six to throw out a law on constitutional grounds, four judges could not stop the hornswoggling. It will be even harder to bear because it was sustained on a technicality, as the man said when he was executed because his reprieve did not bear the governor's official seal.

Limit On Generosity

Congress probably will back up President Eisenhower's generous point of view about the Hungarian immigration quota. But its support for enlarging it is not a sure-thing bet. The odds are no longer than two to one.

If Mr. Eisenhower had taken the position that Hungarian refugees could be admitted only to the legal limit of 21,500, Congress would have shown a similarly lively interest in getting rid of the legal limit entirely.

This is two-party government. There are two sides to every question, sometimes more. A two-party system makes it certain both sides will be open for discussion and perhaps for debate, if there is a difference of opinion.

If Congress reopened the whole issue of immigration as the result of the Hungarian refugee problem, there would be no lack of differing opinions on both the present quotas and on proposals to discard them. While it is proper and heartening for the President to take the initiative in generosity toward Hungarian refugees, there are many congressmen and many constituents who would put the same inflexible limits on presidential generosity that they have put on immigration.

Hottest Rodder

Preston Tucker's death closes a controversy that had to be opened sooner or later in the era of production-line automobiles.

Ten years ago, Tucker tried to lock horns with standard designers by promoting a radical design of his own. For his pains he was tagged as a blue-sky promoter and an unrealistic dreamer.

But in fact he was no more, or less, than a nationally-publicized hot-rodder — a leader of the minority that rebels against conformity in automotive design.

If Tucker had succeeded in getting his ideas into production, he himself would have been a conformist, which is the ironic fate that awaits all revolutionaries. But to start a revolution in the automobile business, a man must have unlimited capital as well as unlimited imagination — and Preston Tucker lacked the capital.

He rates a footnote in the history of the automobile age. He stirred imagination like no other figure of his time.

Tragic Tendency Is To Exaggerate Differences

This is the season for taking stock of the spirit of our times. The tragic tendency is to exaggerate differences and to ignore areas of agreement — To emphasize weaknesses and to overlook sines of strength.

Thus, for many weeks now there has been reiterated reference in the press here and abroad to the "weakness" of the Western alliance—meaning especially the relations between the United States on the one hand, and Great Britain and France on the other. Some observers have called it a "strain," and some have talked about the need for mending something that has been "broken."

Can there be a "break" with the peoples of Britain and France whose cultures have meant so much to the American people over decades of time?

Governments with their human frailties may come and go. Statesmen may speak in petulant and critical voices. But a court of public opinion, where nations are free to air their family differences, is a far different forum than the governments of enslaved nations are permitted by the Kremlin to go to with their grievances.

OUR NEUTRALITY, for example, between 1914 and 1917 shocked Britain and France and caused much bitterness. Conversely, there has been sharp disapproval here recently of British and French policies in the Middle East.

But are these latest differences so fundamental that they warrant any such interpretation as has been given them in the talk of a "broken alliance"?

Can there really be a "break" between the American people and the brave people of Britain who in World War II valiantly fought alone for two years against the Nazi planes which were daily bombing their cities and towns and villages?

Such an alliance will never be broken up by ephemeral differences in this difficult era in which the world is seeking for the principle of collective security a permanent place in the lives of nations.

For, though the methods of attaining the common objective—peace—may cause impassioned debate, there is no weakness in the political, economic and cultural record of prolonged championship unparalleled in the history of mankind?

Can there be a "break" with the people of Great Britain who lost the flower of their manhood in two world wars but managed nevertheless to preserve a free government in the face of a rising tide of state socialism in many

It now is official about this year's winter hats for women as far as I am concerned. They do nothing for their wearers, absolutely nothing.

Much Christmas lighting comes under the heading of "gilding the lily." The objects which are lighted would be easier to look at if let alone. This also applies to people.

Most of the comment continuing to be made about who should have done what and when and why in the Middle East strikes me as querulous—made for the sole purpose of saying something.

The 1957 auto styles look best from the back, in my opinion, and look worst from the sides, where most automobiles are viewed from most of the time.

Singing at the top of one's voice must be the most repressed of all inhibitions, judged by what happens when people are given a chance to sing without fear of reprimands.

One of the most awkward spots to be in is to have to admit you would do what you are criticizing others for doing if you were in their shoes. This is helping to complicate the situations in the Deep South, the Middle East and a great many other places in this complex world.

If you can remember when pregnancy was a hush-hush phenomenon and never dealt with in plays or novels, you are old enough to remember how to take a Weltsbach gas burner out of its cardboard box without breaking it. There has been an electric ice cream freezer in our house for two years and it has been used only once—no reflection on the old check book but an admission of laziness.

When you come right down to it, what other kind of soft candy can compare with big, loppy ornaments studded with peanuts?

Nehru can call them jodhpurs if he wants to, but to the rest of us his skin-tight pants look like long underwear, baggy at the bottom.

The time is not far distant when the postoffice department will have to put restrictions on the dimensions of Christmas cards.

This is the time of year when I used to think about giving up smoking in time for the New Year. As wisdom accumulates, you learn to ignore these foolish impulses of self-improvement.

When midwinter has come and gone without a severe storm, I feel like a man who has received second base on a single and an error. Luck has been with both me and the team, and spring will not be far behind.

It was a shock to learn at a novelty store that those bow ties which light up, squirt water in your eye and so on are so old-fashioned they no longer are being manufactured. How about buggy whips? They obsolete too?

If I were a gasoline company tycoon, I'd make my company be the first to do routine cleaning of the rear windows of automobiles, along with windshields, as a safety gesture.

It seems to me the same tired jokes about Santa Claus are repeated year after year. But being topical, they are brand new to the people who never heard them before and won't hear them again for another 12 months. Did you hear about Santa Claus and the theft?

Singing at the top of one's voice must be the most repressed of all inhibitions, judged by what happens when people are given a chance to sing without fear of reprimands.

Besides stressing the economic challenge, Mr. Martin is expected to warn that Communist diplomacy in Asia — both the Russian and Chinese brands — is being handled with skill.

THIS CAN also be said of the Communist showing in the battle for men's minds — the propaganda war between the West and the Communists.

Mr. Martin, according to word received in Ottawa from his party, is deeply concerned by what he has seen and heard during the past few weeks. When he gets home he will advocate a substantially increased program of Canadian economic assistance to Asian countries.

His report to cabinet colleagues is expected to say in effect that in Asia "it is later than you think."

He has collected impressive evidence that Communist China is the dominating influence over wide reaches of Asia and the Pacific and that Moscow's new pattern of "aid" activities poses a growing challenge.

Lenin's famous dictum that the road to Paris runs through Shanghai is apparently still raising a lively echo in Kremlin council chambers.

The Soviet Union's program of economic, technical and educational aid to Asian states, about which very little is reported in the West, is having considerable impact in Eastern capitals.

ONE OF THE ABLEST men in the Canadian government, Mr. Martin is perhaps in the mold of America's Christian Herter, new undersecretary of state. He has proved his ability in the fields of administration and domestic politics, yet meanwhile has quietly developed as an impressive foreign affairs specialist.

In Parliament he deputizes for External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson. It is an open secret in Ottawa that Mr. Martin hopes to succeed Mr. Pearson with the external affairs portfolio.

His words will carry great weight here when he reports his findings from the Asian tour and the gist of this far from comforting report will likely be passed on to Washington and London.

This year's Federal spending (July 1, 1956 - June 30, 1957) will be approximately $69 billion. That's about $1,400 from every American family, when averaged up. One of the most significant facts about this 1956-57 Federal government budget is that only $2,393,000,000 goes for the general expenses of Government — about $45 per family. And in this general expense are included the expense of tax collection, money management, claims, the FBI, legislative and judicial functions, the weather bureau, etc.

Not so very long ago this budget item of general government expense was the one big item. Added to it were a few hundred million dollars for the armed services and for maintaining our embassies and a small amount (in comparison to today's figures) for debt service. Until 1946 the total of the Federal budget usually stood at from $3 to $4 billion, and most of these expenditures were for general governmental expenses — for administering the laws and maintaining a national defense.

Today, however, big expenditures are going for operations that never would have been classified within the province of the Federal government a comparatively few years ago. Here are the items in the 1956-57 budget which need the closest scrutiny of every taxpayer:

Commerce and housing: $1,970,000,000. This big expenditure is for aid to housing business loans, highway aid, Merchant Marine, Unemployment Compensation and Placement, Public Housing, Post Service, etc.

Natural Resources: $1,133,000,000. This goes for water development

Post Christmas Study

It was several days after Christmas and things were bad around Santa Claus' place. The deer were bushed. Santa was talking in his sleep. Not all that he said reflected his true spirit. Some of it was pretty rough.

"What day is it?" asked Dasher, the head reindeer. "Who cares?" replied Dancer. "It makes no difference to us for another year."

"Shut up and let a deer that needs sleep get it," snapped Prancer. "Every year our jobs get tougher and who bothers with any traffic rules for reindeer. Boy, do my feet hurt!"

"My dogs are worn back up to the ankles," said Vixen. "Poets can talk about the pitter and patter of each little hoof on roofs but does anybody think of what it does to a deer's feet?"

"Why don't people repair their houses? They're in awful shape, especially on those dream houses."

"TO PARAPHRASE an old verse, it ain't the heavy hauling that hurts a reindeer's hooves; it's the hammer, hammer, hammer on the hard houses," said Comet.

"Know what kills me?" asked Cupid. "It's that 'to the top of the porch, to the top of the wall' routine and that 'dash away, dash away, dash away all' stuff. No floating in the easy way! We've got to climb porches and walls yet!"

Donner and Blitzen groaned and got into the act. "I could murder Clement Moore," grunted Donner. "Before this time we could take it easy, but ever since he said we mounted to the sky as dry leaves before a hurricane fly' we have had to live up to it."

"Anybody heard a sound from Santa?" asked Blitzen.

"He's a worse wreck than ever. He never gets up for six months after Christmas. This time he may sleep through to next November."

"Santa and the wife had a hassle when he got home Christmas morning," put in Donner.

"She greeted him with 'Here's another letter for you' and he hit the ceiling, yelling, 'Oh, NO! Oh, NO!' I heard him scream, 'Show me one letter before next winter and — pow—you'll get a trip to the moon, baby.'"

AT THIS POINT Mrs. Claus stuck her head into the stable and warned the deer to pipe down. "You'll wake up Santa Claus the week after Christmas," she cautioned, "and you know how angry that makes him."

It won't be a case of 'His eyes, how they twinkled, his dimples how merry!' It was sufficient. The reindeer piped down fast.

MRS ALFRED S. VANDERBILT got a divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty. This is a clear implication that her husband read the racing charts at the breakfast table.

It seems to us (and we paid in) that "Happy Hunting," Ethel Merman's new musical, is delightful. And what a relief to run into a Broadway musical without a message or a serious note! Nothing but laughs and all around talent! Ethel Merman is no longer an eyeful, but she retains all her famed ability to "set the joint jumpin'."

"I am no authority on Marxism." — Premier Nehru. Wanna bet? Nasser is so autocratic in his demands that the Suez be cleared of wrecks by salvage vessels using no British or French crews that it is just possible he feels everybody engaged in the job should do that job on hands and knees.

1957 Expected To Be Banner Year In Ohio Business

Finding Enough Workers To Be Big Industry Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio business is bumping its head on the ceiling.

One and all expect 1957 to be another banner year for Ohio's booming industrial empire.

But a lack of enough hands to do the job looks like the coming year's big problem, an Associated Press statewide survey indicates.

The manpower pinch and tight money for home construction form the ceiling against which Ohio business is bouncing. The head thumping promises plenty of business headaches in 1957.

Giant new industries—like the General Motors assembly plant in Trumbull County and the Olin-Revere aluminum plant in Monroe County—will need thousands of workers as they begin production in the coming year.

And middle-sized industries springing up all over Ohio will be siphoning off the few available workers.

Probably no more than one per cent of Ohio's labor force is jobless. Most of the unemployed, the best information available indicates, are seasonal workers.

The year 1956 was every bit as prosperous in Ohio as the AP's 1955 survey indicated it would be.

Only a mid-summer steel strike put a snubber on things. But both before and after the strike the level of steel production was at or slightly above rated capacity.

Many business centers report a an accompanying 10 per cent drop in used car sales.

Canton—Industry which escapacitated the nationwide steel strike looks to record output. Optimism supported by this year's production is carried over in predictions for 1957, which many industrialists foresee as "equal to or better than 1956."

Employment has expanded to varied degrees, with indications from at least one that more employees will be added in the fall.

Despite a 20 per cent decline in one and two-family dwellings, building activity in Cuyahoga County increased 4 per cent. Department store sales increased 2 per cent in dollar volume, but new car sales declined 14 per cent from last year's record total. There was a 10 per cent drop in Akron—The rubber industry predicts a banner year in 1957 as a result of research which has found increased uses for rubber products.

Marietta—"We have the biggest number of people employed that we've ever had in the country," says a spokesman for the state employment service. Unemployment is confined chiefly to seasonal workers. Aluminum is a key factor in the Mid-Ohio Valley's development. Production is scheduled for 1957 at the huge Olin

Revere Metals Corp. and the Olin

Mathieson Chemical Corp. Aluminium plants at Clarington, 50 miles up the Ohio River. Aluminum fabrication plants are expected to arrive in the area soon.

"This has been our best year," says Harold McMillen, chairman of the Marietta area unit of the Mid-Ohio Valley Planning Assn.

"It tops 1955 and the way things look, better days are ahead."

Newark—The aluminum industry is expanding here also, and like the oil refining industry, looks to strong demand in 1957.

Athens—Ohio University's growing enrollment and building program, planned expansion in at least one important local industry, and completion of a highway relocation project and school addition program are facets of an overall outlook for continued "healthy" business. Commercial building and prospects for continued record volume of residential construction are good.

Mount Vernon—High employment, with the outlook for continued high industrial activity and expansion, makes prospects good for the early part of 1957. Business in 1956 has been close to 1955

levels.

Optimism is undiminished further west across Ohio. From Toledo to Cincinnati, there is talk of expanded output, improved facilities and higher payrolls.

But where the people will come from to expand output, use the improved facilities and receive the pay is a question that apparently no one feels qualified to try to answer—at least not yet.

Here's what they are saying:

Toledo—Employment sagged in the earlier months of 1956, but has turned upward substantially. Oil refineries and the automotive and glass industries have completed, or are planning, expansion in the belief that 1957 prospects are good.

All types of construction, including homes, were off in 1956 from last year, but 1957 volume is expected to be up, with several large industrial projects in sight.

Fremont—Home appliances, tools and dies, drop forgings, cutters, and automobile seat covers

—all produced in large quantities

—survived rugged competition in 1956 and looked forward to a year which may provide more of the same.

Industries related to agricultural production have had a boom year, spokesmen say. Cabbage and to-matos processing plants report excellent business, and the sugar industry had its best year in 50 years.

Lima—Industrial employment is up about 10 per cent, with a 5 per cent increase anticipated for 1957.

There has been a 6 per cent increase in general employment. Retail buying is ahead 5 per cent.

beet industry had its best year in 50 years.

Chillicothe—Making gains in some fields but losing in others. Employment has been fairly constant. Building permits increased while business activities over-all show a slight decline.

A slight decrease is noted in construction of single family dwellings, but here was a 30 per cent increase in construction or expansion of business and industrial buildings.

Marion—Local employment is at its highest point in history and this apparently helped boost retail sales to a record total this year. The Chamber of Commerce says. Business leaders predict "a new peak" in 1957. Industry has expanded to varied degrees, with indications from at least one that more employees will be added in the fall.

About 200 new homes were built during the year and a shopping center is being planned.

Columbus—"Barring war or some unforeseen difficulty," 1957 will be the most prosperous year ever in the Columbus area, businessmen say. Overall construction volume, despite anticipated dips in homebuilding and private commercial-industrial projects, is expected to be up as much as 5 per cent. Wages, material costs and prices are expected to go up, but the over-all picture is stabilized by thousands of salaried public employees.

Business growth was unspectacular but steady, and added up to the best year in Columbus' history. Average employment rose about 4 per cent. Most industrial expansion involved smaller plants. Retail sales will be up 4½ per cent over last year.

Dayton—Business leaders are generally optimistic about 1957, but many term the year just closing a "return to normal" and choose to match its accomplishments with the previous five years.

A lag in home building accounted for much of the drop in construction, which will wind up the year about 30 million dollars shy of a year ago. Builders see little improvement in 1957.

Leaders in the manufacturing industry are confident new strides will be made next year in expansion of sales and facilities. S. C. Allyn, president of the National Cash Register Co., says 1957 "will be a year of unusual opportunity and good business."

Rolls are expected to exceed one billion dollars, an estimated six per cent boost over the 984 million dollar volume last year.

Retail sales in the Dayton area are expected to exceed seven millions, a six per cent boost over last year's volume.

Cincinnati—Conditions in the Queen City are healthy. Clearings of local banks were up more than one billion dollars over a year ago. The machine tool industry will show an estimated 20 to 25 per cent gain in shipments.

A record year is expected in department store sales. Building continues to boom, especially in the industrial areas. Under construction are multi-million dollar projects for the American Can Co.; Continental Can Co., and the General Electric Co.'s gas turbine division plant in adjoining Evin-dale.

Wilmington—Retail merchants report business is almost at the same level as in 1955 even though income of farmers has dropped. Building has been going on at a rapid pace but officials say there is still a need for low cost housing.

Washington Court House—Looking forward to increased industrial payrolls in 1957. Officials report assurance of at least one new manufacturing plant, the reopening of another and a record number of inquiries regarding industrial sites has prompted the formation of a $200,000 industrial development corporation.

Home construction is running

Ohioan Is Held For Slaying Of Brother-in-Law

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — Harlan Willis, 43, was held in the Lawrence County Jail today, accused of shooting his brother-in-law to death and wounding a deputy sheriff.

The shooting took place about 7 a.m. today at Willis' home on the New Castle pike two miles west of here.

Sheriff Carl E. Rose reported that Willis' sister, Mrs. William Barrett, had called the sheriff's office saying her brother, apparently ill, had been "pounding his head" against the floor of his home.

Deputies Don Butler and William Moore went to the scene, and with the brother-in-law, William Barrett, gained entrance to Willis' house. Deputies said Willis shot Barrett as he entered the house, killing him, and then wounded Moore, a son-in-law of Sheriff Rose.

Willis surrendered several hours later, after Moore had been taken to General Hospital here and Barrett's body removed from the house.

Moore was shot in the right side, and his condition was reported as fair.

Physicians were scheduled to examine Willis later today. They reported he would not file charges in the case until an investigation is completed.

Other prize winners will receive cards sent out by the Lions Club telling where to call for their prizes, which were donated by Salem organizations, banks, business establishments, and manufacturers.

Clyde Williams, contest chairman, was assisted by Charles Leach, Leo Beall, Dick Conway and Merle Hawkins. Williams said the judges reported many other beautiful displays in the area might have won prizes had they been entered in the competition.

The Lions Club expects to sponsor the contest again next year and urges all who have lighting displays to register at the given time.

with 452 dead; the 1937 Ohio-Mississippi River floods, with 360; the Texas City explosions, with 512.

Why the heavy toll? Officials suggested many reasons, but the one cited most often was speed.

The State Division of Traffic Safety found that the most common of several causes in Illinois was driving too fast for road conditions. Gov. William G. Stratton's office summed it up as: "Too much horsepower, too much bad weather, too much speed."

Chicago's traffic chief, Philip McGuire, reported that drinking was the prime cause in 9 of 12 fatal auto accidents there.

An NSC spokesman listed underlying factors as:

1. The "extra" day. Most Christians observances since World War II have lasted one, two or three days.

2. Heavy travel, estimated at a total of seven billion miles, as a result of the almost universal urge to go home for Christmas.

3. Weather that in much of the country was bad enough (sleet, rain, light snow) to slick roads but not bad enough to compel slow motoring.

4. Drinking.

House Group Asks End Of Integration

WASHINGTON (AP) — A majority of a House investigating subcommittee today recommended that racial segregation be restored in the District of Columbia public schools.

The majority — comprised of four of the six members — said in a report that integration of white and Negro pupils has "seriously damaged" the schools here.

"The evidence, taken as a whole, points to a definite impairment of educational opportunities for members of both white and Negro races as a result of integration, with little prospect of remedy in the future," the majority report said.

"Therefore, we recommend that racially separate public schools be re-established for the education of white and Negro pupils in the District of Columbia, and that such schools be maintained on a completely separate and equal basis."

Signing the recommendation were Chairman James C. Davis (D-Ga) and Reps. John Bell Williams (D-Miss.), Woodrow W. Jones (D-N.C.) and Joel T. Broyle (R-Va.).

The two other members of the subcommittee are Reps. A. Miller (R-Neb.) and Dewitt S. Hyde (R-Md.).

time is spent waiting to be matched with a job opportunity in the area where the refugee wants to live.

The vice president said he made the daylong tour of this reactivated Army reception center to see if a "bottleneck" had developed in the sea and air operation bringing thousands of refugees to America.

Immigration and relief agencies progressing the refugees and placing them in homes across the country aim at sending out 500 a day. And Nixon said the goal should be reached "in the very near future."

When it is, the center will be "adequate" to handle any "anticipated" influx of refugees, Nixon said.

Nixon, who returned Monday from a tour of refugee camps in Austria, said he had received "no concrete information" that any Hungarian Communists have entered the United States on the airlift.

The immigration service said in Washington, meanwhile, it is satisfied no Communist or member of the Hungarian secret police has reached America.

By Thursday morning, 12,483 Hungarians had arrived at Kilmer and 5,904 had been processed. A camp spokesman said 6,581 are still awaiting resettlement. Less than 2 per cent stay in the camp longer than two weeks, he said.

By tonight, the spokesman said the center should reach the separation rate of 500 daily. At this figure, all 21,500 refugees authorized so far under the emergency airlift will be passed through the center by Jan. 22, he said.

Nixon made no comment on whether quotas will be eased to handle thousands more refugees still in camps in Austria.

This will be left to a conference between President Eisenhower and congressional leaders Jan. 1, he said. Refugees from other Iron Curtain countries will be given particular consideration in any liberalized immigration legislation, he said.

Rep. Patrick J. Hillings (R-Calif.) said in Washington Thursday night he understands President Eisenhower will ask for the admission of 55,000 refugees "probably half of them from the Hungarian area, a few from various other parts of Europe, and then of course a smaller amount yet for possibly the Far East."

Nixon said there are "plenty of places" where labor shortages exist to absorb the Hungarian refugees and none will be sent where there is unemployment.

County School Board To Reorganize Jan. 19

LISBON — The Columbiana County school board will meet at 2 p.m. Jan. 19 to reorganize the board for the coming year, according to Supt. James L. McBride, clerk.

Most of the county local school boards will meet the first Monday in January to organize their local boards, McBride said.

The majority — comprised of four of the six members — said in a report that integration of white and Negro pupils has "seriously damaged" the schools here.

"The evidence, taken as a whole, points to a definite impairment of educational opportunities for members of both white and Negro races as a result of integration, with little prospect of remedy in the future," the majority report said.

A car operated by Walter Swietek, 34, of Canfield, skidded on the icy road and went into a ditch on Rt. 7, one mile north of Rogers, Thursday at 10:30 a.m. He was cited for going left of center.

Pitt-Georgia Tech, 2 All-Star Games Slated Saturday

Tech, Pitt Meet In Gator Bowl

Gray, East Teams Favored To Win

By DON WEISS

The Associated Press
The fine teams of Georgia Tech and Pitt together with senior aces from most of the big schools that didn't draw a postseason assignment play in three games Saturday as college football throws the first of its New Year's holiday parties.

Tech and Pitt meet in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., in a rematch of last New Year's Sugar Bowl.

The all-star seniors are divided between the Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., and the 32nd annual Shrine East-West game in San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

All three will be broadcast and teecast.

The Jan. 1 program will be headed by the Big Four — Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Sugar Bowl at New Orleans, Cotton Bowl at Dallas and Orange Bowl at Miami.

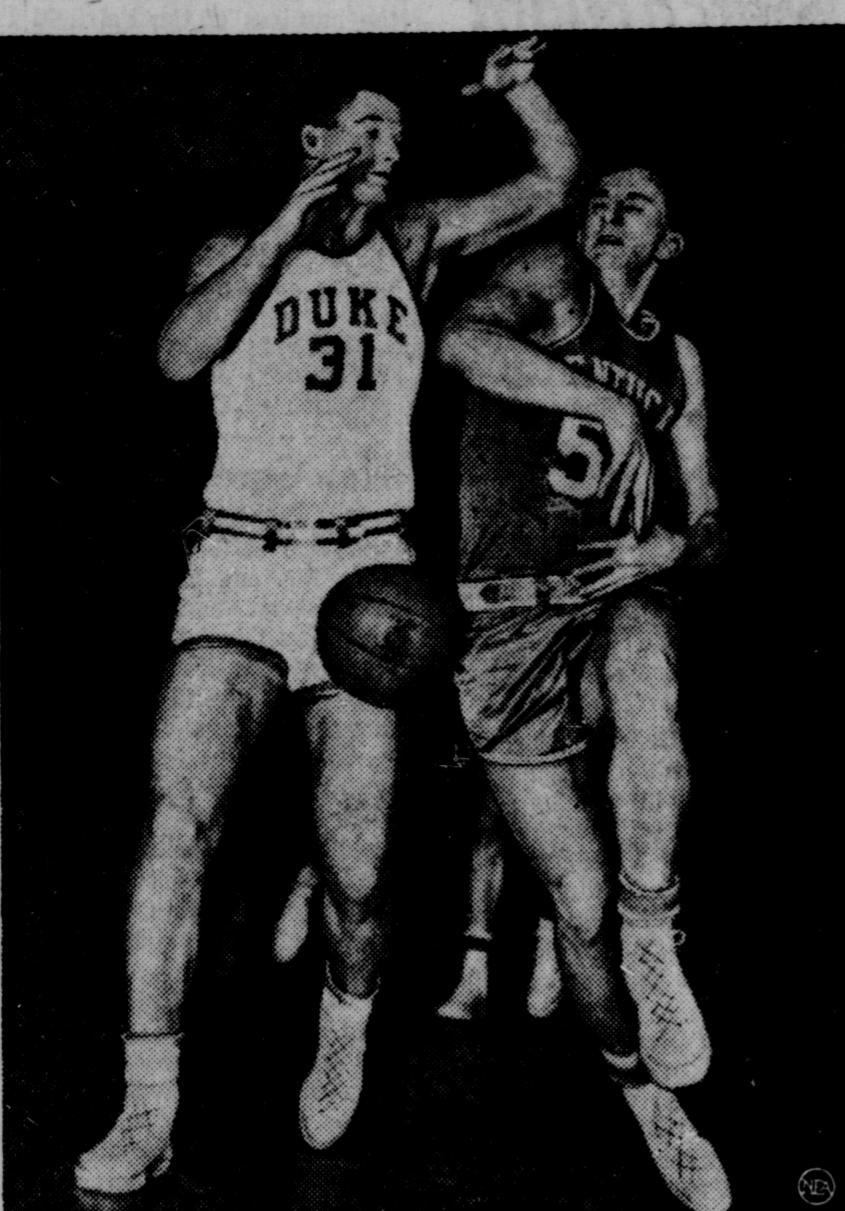

Coach Bobby Dodd has taken seven Georgia Tech teams bowling and has won them all, including the last three years in succession. Both Tech and Pitt are packed with veterans from last January's Sugar Bowl game, in which Tech scored the only touchdown after a disputed pass interference play in the end zone.

The Rebels, with a 12-5 edge in the series so far, are 6-point favorites over the North for Montgomery's Blue-Gray annual. Jim Tatum of North Carolina is head coach for the Grays, who boast such aces as Mackie Prickett of South Carolina, Howell Tubbs of Auburn, Jack Pardee of Texas A&M and LSU's Earl Leggett.

Blue coach Don Faurot, who recently ended his career at Missouri, has a couple of dandy passers in Purdue's Lemmie Dawson and Missouri's Jim Hunter.

The East-West lineup is just as star-spangled with such name players around as Notre Dame's Paul Hornung, Terry Barr of Michigan, Abe Woodson of Illinois, Jim Parker and Bill Michael of Ohio State, Sam Valentine of Penn State and Navy's Wilson Whitmire of the East matched against the likes of the West's John Brodie of Stanford, Jon Arnett of Southern California, Bill Prier of Oklahoma, Jim Crawford of Wyoming, Paul Wiggin of Stanford and Jack Hill of Utah State.

Buck Shaw, now of the Air Force Academy, coaches the West and Notre Dame's Terry Brennan the East, which rates a slight favorite.

Jackson Beats Julio Mederos

10th Round Flurry Brings The Decision

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson came up with his best fighting in the last round and was awarded a close but unanimous 10-round decision over Julio Mederos in their heavyweight bout in the Milwaukee Arena Thursday night.

Jackson, 195½ pounds, forced what action the fight developed, but Mederos, 193½, threw the stiffest punches. The Cuban twice staggered the Hurricane, who is rated the No. 1 heavyweight contender. Mederos is unranked.

With the fight still to be won in the final three minutes, Jackson kept after Mederos with both hands and landed enough to get the nod from the officials. Mederos went down in the tenth, after one of Jackson's swings hit him on the elbow, but the referee called it a slip. There was no count.

Mederos had his best chance in the seventh when he staggered Jackson with a long right, but Jackson covered up and Mederos couldn't force another opening.

Judge Julius Goldman scored it 94-92 and Judge Les De Camara had it 96-94. Referee Milt Goldstein gave Jackson his biggest edge, 97-91.

It was the 29th triumph in 34 starts for Jackson, who lost a split decision last June to Floyd Patterson who went on to take the heavyweight title. Mederos has a 17-15-2 record.

The bout was not televised or broadcast.

Pool said he has been given free reign to select his staff.

Toronto finished last in the 1955 race.

Pool coached the Rams from 1952 through 1954, getting a tie for the western conference title in the National Football League, but the Rams lost to Detroit in the playoff. Pool resigned after the 1954 season.

Pitt, Tech Train Differently For Bowl; Tight Game Seen

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Pittsburgh and Georgia Tech are as far apart as the two poles on training methods for their Gator Bowl Game Saturday, but the two coaches think they'll be close as cousins scorewise.

"I think the fans will see a real tight defensive ball game with very little scoring," Tech's Bobby Dodd said today. "Unless somebody gets some lucky breaks, I don't believe there'll be more than two touchdowns, if that many."

Coach Johnny Michelosen of Pitt, who put his Panthers through their defensive paces in a lengthy drill Thursday, agreed generally, adding:

"I hope there is some scoring on our side."

The coaches have precedent for their prediction: Pitt and Tech tangled in the Sugar Bowl last Jan. 2 and the final score was Tech 7, Pitt 0.

Michelosen isn't a disciple of the free-and-easy training program which has carried Dodd teams to seven bowl victories without a loss, the last five in successive years. Pitt players were given four days off for Christmas, regrouped, came to Jacksonville Wednesday and put in a good 2½ hours on the practice field. Thursday the Panthers were out for practice about two hours, with Michelosen playing the part of Tech ball carriers to show his defense what to expect.

In contrast, Tech took 11 days off for Christmas, regrouped, flew to Jacksonville Thursday and worked out a little more than an hour.

Fullmer Will Beat Robinson, Electronic Tests Predict

(The speed and power of the punching of middleweight champion Ray Robinson and challenger Gene Fullmer were tested electronically by a combination of devices specially created for the task by the Lavoie Laboratories of Morganville, N. J. In the following story, Stephen D. Lavoie, an outstanding engineer in the field of radar and electronics who had a brief pro boxing career, picks the winner on the basis of the tests)

By STEPHEN D. LAVOIE

President, Lavoie Laboratories

(Written for The Associated Press)

NEW YORK (AP) — In this world of automation, super jets, guided missiles and satellites, among other miracles of the electronic age, engineering and science has reached a point of near perfection. Instruments nobody ever dreamed of are measuring and calibrating things nobody ever thought could be accomplished to the astounding degree of speed and accuracy.

It was with this thought in mind that we created a system of instruments to measure the speed and power in the punches of Sugar Ray Robinson and Gene Fullmer, who are fighting for the world middleweight championship in Madison Square Garden next Wednesday.

The results of the tests, made on December 18, with Fullmer, and on December 19, with Robinson, are, of course, not entirely conclusive on the outcome of the fight. But scientifically and electronically speaking, with human factors taken into consideration, the "punchoscope" or "punchograph" they are calling our measuring devices, tell to a great extent not only an interesting story but also a fairly true one.

Electronically, Gene Fullmer will be the new middleweight champion of the world!

The punches tested on the bag were a standard right cross, first with eight ounce gloves, then the six-ounce gloves that will be used in the fight; and a left jab with a right cross at a speed of sixes only.

With six ounce gloves Fullmer threw a right cross at a speed of 30.4 miles per hour with a force of 1260 pounds. Robinson delivered the same punch with a speed of 15.2 miles per hour and an impact of 1500 pounds — 240 pounds harder but with only half the speed of Fullmer.

Fullmer's left jab, more of a semi-hook, travelled 17 m.p.h. faster even than Robinson's right cross, with a force of 1035 pounds. Robinson, sing a regulation jab, registered only 14 m.p.h. and 460 pounds. With the right cross and eight ounce gloves, Fullmer punched at 22 m.p.h. with 1150 pounds and Robinson, 19 miles per hour and 1150 pounds.

Fighters can "kid" the human eye but they cannot play possum with electronics. In fighting, as in anything else, what you give you get.

The results paint a picture of the fight that will stand up to any boxing expert's analysis. Fullmer punched the bag the way he fights, with everything he has. Despite Robinson's bigger punch with the one right cross, the overall picture shows Fullmer stronger, faster and certainly expending more energy. Fullmer's speed, they tell me, was surprising in view of the fact that Robinson is considered one of the fastest punchers in boxing. The answer is simple. Robinson punches with deliberation and his best punches come in combinations.

Age, respective condition and individual talent naturally, must be considered. Fullmer is ten years younger than Robinson and it must be assumed that both will be in top physical condition for the fight. Robinson's talents as a boxer and puncher must be off the record, estimated as greater than Fullmer's. However, this could be balanced by age and determination. The question left open is whether or not Robinson can withstand Fullmer's youth, speed, energy and determination for fifteen rounds. Electronics says he cannot.

Science and engineering predicts a Fullmer victory.

Paolo Rosi To Box Vasquez Tonight

(MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Two unranked but aggressive lightweights, Paolo Rosi of the Bronx and Baby Vasquez of Mexico City, clash tonight in a nationally televised fight re-garded as a big attraction.

Rosi, a hard-hitter who is also effective as a counter-puncher, is an 8-5 favorite to win because of his ability to land a good blow with either hand.

The New Yorker, who was born in Italy, has won three straight this year, from Sal Dugardia, Joey Lopez and Henry (Toothpick) Brown, and has a record of 23 victories in 26 starts.

Vasquez, the Mexican lightweight champion, has won 45 and lost 12.

The match will be televised nationally by NBC starting at 10 p.m. (EST).

Carmine Tarantino, Rosi's manager, feels that a good win may place Rosi in the top 10 lightweight champion of the world!

Australia Whips U. S. 5-0 In Davis Cup Competition

By WILL GRIMSLY
ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Australia placed a resounding final stamp on its Davis Cup victory over the United States today when phlegmatic Ken Rosewall and blaster Lew Hoad won the final two singles matches for a perfect 5-0 triumph.

Rosewall had to go four bitter sets before subduing University of Texas junior Sam Giannimalva 4-6, 1-6, 8-6, 7-5. Hoad polished off 33-year-old Vic Seixas 6-2, 7-5, 6-3 in a match that produced some brilliant tennis on both sides.

Now the United States must start all over again. This is the second year running the Aussies have shut out the Yanks. A check of the records also shows this is the fourth time the lads from Down Under have whitewashed the Americans.

On the other hand, the United States, which has been in 37 of the 45 Challenge Rounds that have been contested since 1900, also has blanketed the Aussies four times. In that respect, at least, they are even.

Probably the most popular player on the court was Giannimalva, who captured the hearts of the capacity crowd of 1,000 at the War Memorial Drive courts. Texas Sammy shows his emotions with every shot. He alternately exhibits glee and despair.

Some experts thought Sam might have helped beat himself by playing strictly to Rosewall's forehand, the weakest link in Ken's armor.

Not once did Giannimalva let up his relentless and booming attack on the Rosewall forehand. Again and again he sliced at it and in the first set, he was completely successful. Rosewall was somewhat ruffled.

In the second set, though, Rosewall began moving in on the net and quickly ran up a 4-0 lead. Giannimalva conceded the set and started fresh.

Out rushed Giannimalva in the

Giants Plan Ways To Halt Bear Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Jim Howell of the New York Giants isn't one to reveal his secrets but he took time out today to announce some of his plans to contain the Chicago Bears in Sunday's National Football League championship game.

His main problem is to stop backfield star Rick Casares and end Harlon Hill, probably the two big offensive threats of the Bears.

"Well," he said, "we have about 12 basic defenses with variations off them to suit individual situations.

"Of course, we could double up on Casares or Hill. But then we would leave a fine runner like

Bobby Watkins or pass receiver like Jim Dooley lightly guarded.

Howell said that the Giants would use some new variations of their basic defenses to suit what they have been able to learn about the Bears from first-hand knowledge and scouting reports.

"But," he laughed, "it's a vicious circle. They will have to put in new variations of their offense and we'll have to cope with them as we go along."

What about the "soft" conditioning

he has been giving the club leading up to the all-important game? The Giants have worked only five days since their last regular-season game on Dec. 15.

"We haven't worked hard because we feel we are ready,"

Howell answered. "We didn't take all those days off because we felt the Bears were not good. Except for us we think they're the best in the league."

LOW RETURN—Vix Seixas, a veteran of many a Davis Cup war, has to go low for a return on a smashing crosscourt serve by Australian Ken Rosewall during their singles match at Adelaide, Australia. Rosewall took the match with a 6-1, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1. Lew Hoad crushed Herbie Flam 6-2, 6-3, 6-3, giving the Australians a 2-0 lead in the Davis Cup Challenge round Dec. 26.

Giammalva Electrifies Australian Audience

ADELAIDE (AP) — Australians have found Sammy Giammalva the most electrifying figure to come from the United States in years.

At the conclusion of today's Davis Cup matches the audience gave him perhaps the biggest hand ever tendered a visiting player.

The youthful Texan from Houston sent the people home laughing with the remark "I have been in Australia two months now and I have come to one conclusion — I think Australia is almost as big as Texas."

Jockey Dave Erb was aboard the beaten favorite Needles in the 1956 Preakness but he evaded his Pimlico score by taking the Pimlico Special with Summer Tan.

The summons could be served only when Allen could be found in Missouri because the suit was filed in Kansas City. Allen is ordered to appear within 30 days.

Columbiana Churches To Honor New Year

Baby Gorilla Almost Human, Zoologists Say

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—If the latest addition to the Columbus Zoo was disturbed, or even curious, about the group of men gaping down at her in her crib, she gave no sign of it.

She yawned her small gorilla's yawn. And from the men around her, all eminent zoologists, came the voice of Earl Davis, superintendent of the Columbus Zoo.

"You can't hold her," he said,

"This is no toy. If it was a human baby, all right, but not this one."

The men all stood around and stared. "Cuddles," as the baby is called, was born six days ago, the first gorilla to be born in captivity.

"I tell you she's almost human," commented Fletcher Reynolds, head of the Cleveland Zoo. "She's not human of course, but almost."

His was typical of the countless remarks made by zoologists who came from Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Oklahoma City and New York City to witness the tiny beast.

Club were present at an interclub meeting with the Columbiana Kiwanis Club at Heck's Restaurant Wednesday evening, when there was a round table program. The count beginning Dec. 8 showed that 201,786 pieces of mail passed through the cancelling machine; metered mail and circulars not cancelled, 9,500 pieces, estimated, making a total of 211,286 pieces, exclusive of parcel post, newspapers and all mail cancelled by hand.

Fifteen extra carriers and clerks were employed during the Christmas rush.

Church Leader Dies In Traffic Accident

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — The spiritual leader of 125,000 members of the Evangelical United Brethren Church was killed Thursday night in a traffic accident that also claimed the lives of his wife and a Cincinnati man.

Dead were Bishop and Mrs. D. T. Gregory of Pittsburgh, and Floyd Lovell, 50, of Cincinnati.

Bishop Gregory, 66, and his wife, 65, were returning to their Pittsburgh home after spending Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. Thelma Jackson of Dayton.

Lovell, a part-time employee of the Avis Trucking Co., was delivering a truck from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati when it was involved in a collision with the Bishop's car on U. S. 40 about six miles east of here.

Bishop Gregory and his wife were natives of Martinsburg, W. Va., where they will be interred after funeral services in Dayton. Bishop Gregory was resident bishop of the east central area of the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

O'NEILL'S SON HAS USUAL JOB AT INAUGURATION

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ten-year-old Charles William (Dubby) O'Neill will perform an old job Jan. 14 when his father, C. William O'Neill, takes the oath as Ohio governor.

Dubby will hold the family Bible, a task he has performed three times his father was sworn in as attorney general. Ohio Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt will administer the oath on a platform on the west steps of the state house at noon.

The Bible is the one used by O'Neill in the ceremonies for his induction as attorney general. Mrs. O'Neill and Peggy, their other child, will be on the platform, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Robson and daughters of East Palestine and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gotthardt Jr. were Christmas Day guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gotthardt.

Mrs. Laura Groner and Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Holt and son, Robert spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Sprague at Lansing, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Scully and children have returned to their home in Euclid after spending the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dean.

An explanation came from Rodney's grandfather, D. C. MacDonald of Grand Forks, N.D.

Last Easter, when Rodney was only 1½ months old, the grandfather pinned an "Eisenhower for President" button on his grandchild, snapped a picture and sent it to the President.

"That was when the President was recovering from his heart attack and nobody knew whether he was going to run again," MacDonald recalled.

"I sent a little note with the picture telling Mr. Eisenhower that Rodney was his youngest booster and that if he wanted the boy to grow up in a peaceful world he should run again and be president until 1960."

Shortly thereafter MacDonald received a "very gracious" letter from the White House.

He and the family thought that was as far as the matter would go.

Rodney's toy train from the President and Mrs. Eisenhower traveled a special route. From Washington to Minneapolis it went by air in charge of a Secret Service agent. Another agent delivered it to the railroad station here.

The agent called, located Rodney's parents, and the train found its way to the little boy.

Truckers To Halt Work For 36 Hours

DETROIT (AP)—The Teamsters Union says its planned 36-hour halt of almost all truck traffic between Michigan cities this weekend will include a ban on movement of newspapers and movie film.

Frank Fitzsimmons, union vice president, told union stewards Thursday night only perishables and foodstuffs would be exempt.

The scheduled stoppage is in protest against proposed legislation to outlaw weekend truck travel in Michigan.

The halt is set to begin at 9 a.m. (EST) tomorrow and end at 9 p.m. Sunday. It will affect between 4,000 and 5,000 trucks, Fitzsimmons said.

State legislators last year turned down a bill to ban weekend and holiday truck travel between June 1 and Oct. 1.

A similar bill reportedly is waiting for lawmakers when they reconvene in the state capital at Lansing next month.

TO SELL AIRPORT

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Hungarian refugee couple, who fought together against Russians in Budapest, were married Thursday night in the First Hungarian church here, for farmland. Ravenrock, ruled obsolete by the federal government because of landing dangers to aircraft and because of flood susceptibility, had serviced the Portsmouth area for 30 years.
